World Kiswahili Language Day : 07 July :-

Kiswahili is spoken in east and central Africa. Mother-tongue speakers are mostly located around the coast, although Kiswahili is also used as a second or third language by individuals all over the world. According to UNESCO, which declared July 7 to be World Kiswahili Language Day in 2021, 200 million people speak it. By the 1800s, Kiswahili was being utilized throughout the caravan trade network that crisscrossed east-central Africa. In the centuries before this, the language had been used to formulate legal, philosophical and poetic contributions that influenced the entire Indian Ocean world. This year, World Kiswahili Language Day will be celebrated under the theme "Kiswahili: Education and Culture of Peace".
